APRIL 2014

STUDENT MINISTER SNIPPET

What a winter this has been! I may say this every winter, but it seems as if this has been a bad one. And a long one. I long to see a color other than white. By this time of year, the iron clutch of winter affects me in more than my frozen toes and frost-nipped nose. I think our church does a lot to counter the cold and dark of this season. Every coffee hour I see people providing needed warmth and comfort for each other. I think of the two "Girlfriend Parties" that recently brought some sun to people who have not been able to be in church. Good tradition to keep up. Winter is not just a meteorological event. We often feel a winter in the heart, too, and winter can descend in July as well as in January. The grasp of that kind of winter can be harder to thaw. It is something that a few days of sunshine do not relieve. Spring, whether real or as a symbol, is a powerful force. We all long for its renewing powers. As our planet slowly turns our home closer to the sun, let us make room for spring in our lives. And, despite the current weather, there is hope, which is, as Emily Dickinson said, a thing with feathers. I've seen a few brave or misguided robins in the lawn. May that hope perch in our souls.

A SERMON BY THE REVEREND WEISSBARD

The Rev. David Weissbard writes concerning his sermon for the April 6 service:

"As Easter approaches, we should be asking ourselves how it is that someone who preached love and peace could be crucified. The reason for asking that question is there is ample evidence that the murdering of prophets is not just a one time occurrence, nor is it only ancient history. Of course we remember Dr. King, whose sacrifice was in this season, but my thoughts turn also to Paul Robeson, one whose crucifixion was more subtle. This Sunday I will be reminding you of his tragic story."

Please have articles for the next newsletter to Bob Haskell by no later than NOON on MONDAY, APRIL 28. Bob would be grateful if everyone would not wait until the last minute to submit articles. His e-mail address is rhaskell@twcny.rr.com. His postal address is 29 Grove Street, Baldwinsville, NY 13027-2332. His telephone number is 315-635-5294.

SPAGHETTI DINNER OFFERS A GREAT MEAL, FELLOWSHIP

The Spaghetti Dinner sponsored by the UU Circle on Saturday, April 5, will feature our homemade meatballs and sauce, marinara (meatless) sauce, salad, bread, dessert, and beverage.

Don't forget that a family can eat for $20!

Please tell your family and friends to make this event another success.

This year we have some lovely themed gift baskets as well as several works of art that will be up for silent auction.

Help support our church for a great meal and fellowship.

ORGANIC FARMER DICK DEGRAFF TO SPEAK ON APRIL 6

Dick deGraff, who with his wife, Vic Ladd-deGraff, founded Grindstone Farm, will speak at noon on Sunday, April 6, as part of the Social Justice Subcommittee's Voices for Worker Equality series.

The deGraffs began the certified organic operation south of Pulaski more than 25 years ago, and they continue to mentor young farmers. As a Community Supported Agriculture supplier for many years, they have provided produce to families in Syracuse and Central New York. The farm continues to provide ways for folks to support local and community agriculture.

According to its Web site, "Grindstone Farm provides produce through our CSA, Healthy Box Program and Farmer's Markets. With over 25 years of rich experience in growing high quality, certified organic fruits and vegetables, Grindstone Farm has become a well-known leader in Central New York.

"We grow over 120 varieties of vegetables and fruits. You'll find everything from A (asparagus and arugula) to Z (zucchini and zinnia). We also serve as a link between you and other farms through which we offer fresh, natural dairy, meat, organic dried fruits, nuts, honey, maple syrup, juices and more."

The subcommittee hopes that Dick's years of experience will give him a unique perspective on worker equality that he can share during his presentation.

As always, the program is co-sponsored by the Workers' Center of Central New York.

SOCIAL JUSTICE SUBCOMMITTEE, OUTREACH COMMITTEE

The third program in our Voices for Worker Equality series on March 2 featured the documentary, "After I Pick the Fruit," and a discussion with the filmmaker, Nancy Guertner. Dick deGraff, organic farmer, will speak on Sunday, April 6.

The March 1 Red Cross blood drive went fairly well with 19 donations. The Red Cross will return from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 10, and hopefully continue on a regular basis.

We had our monthly Social Justice Subcommittee meeting on March 9 (the group meets the second Sunday each month). We are planning the May 4 Voices for Worker Equality program when Rebecca Fuentes will speak. She is an organizer at the Workers' Center of Central New York and has been our partner in the series.

Another $150 donation was made this month to Pure Water for the World for its work in Haiti. Your coins really add up!

Please contact me if you are able to help with our Adopt-a-Highway pickup on Sunday, April 27. We will meet at 8:30 a.m. and clean up Route 11. We will return in plenty of time for the church service.

All are welcome to join our next meeting at 9 a.m. on Sunday, April 13. Together we plan actions and encourage congregational participation.

Nancy Hallock, chairperson

GREEN MINUTE: GREEN SMOOTHIE

I have had several people ask me for this green smoothie recipe. This odd concoction tastes surprisingly similar to pumpkin pie.

2 good-sized handfuls of spinach, baby kale or your favorite greens

1 cup pumpkin (either fresh or the 100 percent pumpkin you buy in a can)

1 cup frozen blueberries (fresh taste good, too, but the drink won't be as thick)

2 tablespoons raw almond butter (I usually make these heaping tablespoons)

1 banana or 8-oz vanilla almond milk or a scoop of vanilla protein powder

Cinnamon and nutmeg to taste (My taste is heavy on the nutmeg)

Add water for the desired consistency.

The almond butter adds healthy fats and protein. The spinach and blueberries give you vitamins and antioxidants. Pumpkin is good for your skin.

As with any smoothie, have fun and experiment. Add more of this and less of that until you find out just how you like it. I've made it with sweet potatoes, and it works well. I would assume that some types of winter squash would also be good. Enjoy!

A BUSY TIME FOR CHILDREN

March has been a very busy time for our children. We have worked on our UU principles books, chalice head prayer dolls and “who am I” hand prints.

With warmer weather coming we will be working in our meditation garden and putting up bird houses and feeders.

TRACY KINNE FOCUSES ON POVERTY, INEQUALITY

The CNY Arts Center’s next guest for its Author Spotlight wanted people to understand growing poverty and economic inequality on a personal level.

So she wrote two books: one is a memoir about her four years as a low-wage retail worker, and the other describes the challenges faced by a teen who is an emerging activist but lives in rural poverty much like that in parts of Oswego County.

Tracy Kinne, a lifelong resident of Parish and a member of our church, will speak at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 1, at The Arts in the HeART Gallery, 47 South First Street (across from the gazebo), Fulton.

She was a newspaper journalist for 21 years before taking a buyout and leaving The (Syracuse) Post-Standard in 2007. She also was former editor at several smaller newspapers, including the Phoenix Register and the Valley News.

Tracy was named a 2013 Central New York Workers Memorial Day Champion of Worker Safety and Health for her memoir, “On Sale: Employers Get Good Workers Dirt Cheap.” The book also took honorable mention in three international festivals: Paris, New York and New England.

Her second book is young adult fiction, “Little Town on the Shale: A Girl Fights Hydrofracking.”

Both books are available at the gallery. All proceeds benefit the Arts Center.

VIDEO DISCUSSION GROUP

The Video Discussion Group will view “Dog Whistle Politics of Race” when it meets in the Goettel Room at 7 p.m. on Friday, April 4.

Author and legal scholar Ian Haney López tells Bill Moyers in two “Moyers & Company” segments that dog whistle politics is “the dark magic” by which middle-class voters have been seduced to vote against their own economic interests. Haney López is an expert in how racism has evolved in America since the civil rights era. Over the past 50 years, he says, politicians have mastered the use of dog whistles – code words that turn Americans against each other while turning the country over to plutocrats. Haney López, a professor of law at the University of California, Berkeley, is a senior fellow at the policy analysis and advocacy group, Demos.

The video group plans to have supper at the Akropolis Restaurant on Route 11 just north of Central Square at 5:30 p.m. on the same day. Please let Janie Garlow know via e-mail at mjgarlow@aol.com or via telephone at 315-436-2238 by Thursday, April 3, if you plan to attend the supper so that she may make a reservation.

REGISTER NOW FOR SUMMER CAMP

Registration for summer camp is filling quickly at the UU camps and conference centers. If you are considering attending as a family or sending your child, now is the time to act.

Registration at Unirondack, the camp in Upstate New York that many youth and families in our region attend, is already full for its older high school sessions (Ballou). Space still remains in the Parker sessions (for 14-16-year-olds) and some of the weeks for younger children, Barton (9-12-year-olds) and Channing (12-14-year-olds), although they are filling fast. Family Camp at Unirondack has room for a few more families but generally fills by the middle of April.

The UU camp and conference centers provide an opportunity for children and families to live UU values in a creative, accepting and nurturing community outside the doors of congregations. For more information about Unirondack, and to register for summer camp or weekend programs, visit its Web site at <http://www.unirondack.org/>.

Other camp and conference centers in the region include Rowe, Ferry Beach, Star Island, and Murray Grove. And don’t ignore DeBenneville Pines in California, U-Bar-U in Texas, Unistar in Minnesota, or The Mountain and Shelter Neck in North Carolina.

Many of the centers have year-round programs. All provide an opportunity for personal growth, fellowship and community.

STEWARDSHIP LETTER TO THE CONGREGATION

(The following remarks were delivered by Bob Haskell at the Stewardship Luncheon on Sunday, March 23.)

I do not think that I am bragging if I say that I think that our congregation has experienced a fairly good church year, thanks to everyone of you.

We have been able to conduct a meaningful service each Sunday morning, certainly the one activity that draws everyone together at the same time and the same place. Each service has continued to feature a strong pulpit that has included Andrea Abbott, the Rev. David Weissbard, the Rev. Tanya Atwood-Adams, the Rev. Libbie Stoddard and occasionally the Rev. Bud Adams. I said it last year, and I will say it again this year: "To be able to have speakers of this caliber each Sunday in a congregation of our size I find to be truly amazing. I don't feel that I can emphasize this too much or too often." We have also experienced a growth in our choir under the direction of Leigh Parry-Benedict, our music coordinator. And we have been willing to try new things for our services. We have experimented with different affirmations of faith or covenants this church year. The piano has been repositioned. We have made a change or two in the altar. And we have a continuing stream of greeters at the front door. The Spiritual Committee, under the leadership of Patricia Cerro-Reehil, has guided many of these aspects of our services.

Despite the fact that we seldom have more than one child for our religious education program on many Sundays, Ronna Schindler, Religious Education Committee chairperson and older children's teacher, is fully prepared each Sunday with a new lesson. And we have been consistent in providing a nursery under the supervision of Haley Drabot each Sunday morning.

Members and friends continue to provide refreshments, bearing the costs themselves, for the social time after the service each Sunday.

Andrea has held office hours at the church from 5 to 7 p.m. on almost every Tuesday. As far as I am aware, this is Andrea's idea. She has also led the "Step 12 Group" workshop based upon Karen Armstrong's book, "Twelve Steps to a Compassionate Life." All of this is way beyond what our congregation has any right to expect from her in addition to her appearances in the pulpit.

Our congregation could not function as well as it does without the work of its committees. With the greatest of respect for all of the committees and their members and with the realization that I will offend some of you for not including your names and your work, for which I apologize, I must tell you that it is impossible to put into words of appreciation what I feel about all of the fine activities conducted by the Outreach Committee under the leadership of Nancy Hallock. Not only has the committee continued its Adopt-a-Highway cleanups, collection of food items for our Downstairs Scotty, the recycling of magazines and its participation in "Pure Water for the World," but this year it has conducted a Voices for Worker Equality speaker and film series on issues of labor and equality. The series is being co-sponsored with the Workers' Center of Central New York. Many of these activities are the work of the Social Justice Subcommittee. Thanks to the work of the Membership Subcommittee, seven new members have joined the congregation this church year. And the committee has continued to publicize church activities throughout the wider community.

Let me also single out the work of the Administrative Committee under the leadership of Arne Hook. Arne arranged for the removal of four trees surrounding the religious education wing of the church last summer. And Arne has made numerous other improvements to the church building, such as the new lighting at the east entrance to the church, mostly at his own expense and on his own time. Arne also installed a new stove in the kitchen with the help of Priscilla Sparks and Winfield Ihlow after Barbara Kamerance arranged for an evaluation of the old stove and Nancy Hallock oversaw its sale and removal.

I could go on but let me say that the congregation has been able to carry out all of these activities while operating in the black financially thus far this year. And that has been possible thanks to the cooperation by all of you.

The congregation approved a budget of $27,615 for the 2013-2014 church year when it conducted its annual

GAME NIGHT

The UU Circle is planning a game night from 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, April 12. The event is being coordinated with the help of Amy Rubinstein.

Everyone is encouraged to bring a friend and a game or two.

The Circle will have popcorn and drinks. Everyone is free to bring a favorite treat or drink. The Circle will make it a good time and repeat it.

NEEDED: BOOKS FOR HOSPITAL PATIENTS

If anyone has books, hardcover or paperback, that you plan to discard or pass on, please bring them to church for collection.

Barbara Kamerance will be taking them to the VA Medical Center in Syracuse for distribution to patients and residents through their in-house libraries.

meeting on Sunday, June 2. Thanks to your generous pledges and contributions, we have been able to live within that budget.

The Executive Board has not prepared a tentative budget for the 2014-2015 church year yet. But I would expect that it might be somewhere higher than this year's budget. For one thing, I feel that we have to provide additional money for work to be done on the church building by outside sources. We can't rely on members of the congregation to do all of this work. No one is getting any younger, and we all have other demands on our time.

The congregation raises money in various ways. The major source of our revenue is the pledges and commitments made by individuals or families to provide a certain amount of money during the coming church year. Further, we raise other moneys through loose collections, special collections, Fair Share contributions, various building usage fees, UU Circle activities, dividends and interest.

The following question needs to be asked each year: How should we conduct a pledge campaign? We could try a professional fundraiser. We could ask members of the congregation to call on other members to ask for pledges. This latter effort was tried several years ago but it was not viewed as a success. So the Executive Board has decided to continue a rather low key effort again this year, feeling that the congregation is so small that each one knows the needs of the church, that it does not take a professional fundraiser to tell anyone about those needs.

Our congregation and its members participate in many activities, both in-house and outside. We should continue to maintain this tradition, both for our own organizational health and confidence, but also to maintain our visibility in the wider community. We can continue those efforts with a successful pledge campaign starting today.

The Executive Board is not going to ask each of you to increase your pledge. We know that some of you are not able to increase your pledge. In fact, we know that some of you cannot make a pledge at all or will have difficulty maintaining your existing pledge. But for those who can increase your pledge, we ask that before each of you signs a pledge card, please give some thought as to how much the church means to you and how important it is to you to continue to have the church activities that we now enjoy, and then let your heart be your guide.

Pledge cards are available at the church or from Treasurer Marcia Burrell-Ihlow. It is hoped that all pledge cards will be returned by May 1.

Thank you.

A WARM WELCOME TO THE NEW MEMBERS OF OUR CONGREGATION

Susan Jennings, Tracy Kinne, Renee Landers-Jennings, Priscilla Sparks, Kenneth Wells, Susan Wells and Susan Woods recently signed the church membership book. As has been the practice of late, we asked each of them as a new member to write a short biographical sketch. These are the ones received thus far.

Susan Jennings

"I have lived in Oswego County for my entire life and have spent most of my life living in the city of Oswego. I attended Mexico, New York, schools growing up and later attended Oswego State. I worked for 33 years at the James A. Fitzpatrick plant in Lycoming, New York. I started my career in nuclear security and ended it in the Records Management Department where I worked for many years. I retired in January 2014 and now have time for pursuing my many hobbies and interests. Music and art are my passions. Most of my art work is in oils, acrylics and mixed media collage. I am also a photographer and specialize in outdoor portraits. I have a large musical instrument collection and meet with other musicians locally for jams at our home. Renee and I met in 1999 and married in 2011. We share our home with two dogs and two cats, and they are our 'fur kids'."

Tracy Kinne

"I am a lifelong Parish resident who has a bachelor of science in newspaper from the S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications at Syracuse University. I was a journalist for many years."

Renee Landers-Jennings

"I was born and raised in New York City. Growing up in Manhattan opened a world of opportunities for me to explore. I grew up one block from a major university and so I saw a lot in the '60s and '70s happening on campus. I knew that what I wanted to do was to go to college. When it was time to select a college I didn't look up the block but I chose to go away from New York City and get the total college life experience of living on a college campus. I went to Elmira College where I had an awesome experience. I became a resident assistant for three years and graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in history with a minor in speech pathology and audiology. As an RA I learn that I could find a school that would pay me to get my master's degree and become a residence hall director, and I went to get my master's in psychology. After obtaining my master's I worked at North Carolina School of the Arts, University of Nevada, Reno, and Mansfield University for 11 years, and now at SUNY Oswego where I am associate director of residence life and housing in my 11th year. Hobbies: knitting, reading, technology, television, and traveling."

A NOTE OF THANKS

Thanks to Nancy Hallock, Barbara Kamerance, Susan Woods, Priscilla Sparks and Paul Riley for providing refreshments for the social time on March 30.

Thanks to Janie Garlow for volunteering to serve as a greeter on March 30.

SENIOR-OPOLY

The Central Square School District Student Leadership Task Force is sponsoring "Senior-Opoly" for area senior citizens at the Central Square Middle School from 4 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 8.

The affair will start with a buffet dinner featuring ziti and meatballs followed by "Senior-Opoly" being played by teams. DJ Jaime Jeroloman will provide music to which to dance, and student groups will provide entertainment. The dinner will be provided at no cost to the first 300 people to make reservations.

A flier containing general information and a sign-up sheet are available at church.

MAUNDY THURSDAY SERVICE

Andrea Abbott, student minister, and Leigh Parry-Benedict, music coordinator, will conduct a Maundy Thursday communion service at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 17.

CHANTING AND MEDITATION

Anyone who is interested in chanting and meditation is invited to contact Tim Hart via e-mail at timhart@a-znet.com or via telephone at 315-439-2541.
